

The Owingsville Outlook.

VOL. XXV.

OWINGSVILLE, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, JULY 23, 1903.

NO. 2

GOING TO MOVE.

I have rented a store-house in Flemingsburg, Ky., and will open up business there on August 1st, 1903. From now until I move I will sell anything in my large stock at cost. I would rather have the cost in cash than move them. I can replace them with less trouble and you get the benefit of goods without profit. I have a nice stock of new, fresh goods, and if you need Dry Goods, Clothing, Shoes, Hats or Notions I can save you at least 25 per cent., sometimes more. Don't miss this chance. JAMES GILLON.

57 When you have a news item or wish to communicate with THE OUTLOOK office by 'phone ring up 57

The public school per capita for this year is $2.60.

Seth Butts sold twenty-seven fat 975-lb. hogs to F. P. Hendrix & Co. at 40c.

T. S. Shroat sold to W. J. Fell 100 bbls. of corn to be delivered at Salt Lick at $3.75.

Miss Mattie Woodson Barnes, west of town, entertained the Junior social set Tuesday night.

We must have our money, so please call and settle.

S. SLESSER.
Miss Eva McKinnon will begin her term of school at See's schoolhouse the fourth Monday in July.

The Owingsville baseball club went to Mt. Sterling Tuesday and played the Mt. S. team, losing by 13 to 15.

Mrs. Elva Catlett's grass in the pasture west of her home caught fire and burned a considerable area Saturday evening.

J. D. J. Power and tenants of Burbridge's Branch, sold 9,500 lbs. of tobacco to Snedegar Bros., of Wyoming, at 64c.

The weather is breezy and delightfully cool. More dampness is all that is needed to make it ideal summer weather.

Although the streets have been swept and the dust carted off frequently every little wind finds plenty of dust yet.

There is to be a reunion of the Confederate soldiers of Gen. John Morgan's command at Park's Hill camp grounds Aug. 18-20.

Lost.—A small brown rat terrier long tail and legs, ten dollars for his return.
W. W. BARNES, Salt Lick, Ky.

The best yield of wheat reported this year is a little over 30 bushels per acre from three measured acres on A. G. V. Conk's farm, on Flat Creek.

Lost.—At picnic on Salt Lick July 11th lady's pocket-book containing money, gloves, handkerchief, etc. Get reward at Our-luck office.

NEW FIRM.—As successors to Oscar Palmer we are prepared to do everything in the line of blacksmith and carriage repair work, having first-class smiths and painters. Your patronage is solicited.

FURNISHINGS. Prompt equipments and modern services; also dealer in first-class furniture of all descriptions. Call and see before purchasing elsewhere.
M. D. FARIS, Owingsville, Ky.

M. D. FARIS, Funeral Director and Embalmer.

Lost.—Ladies' gold-filled watch, Elgin movement, initials "R. J. G." on case, between Forge Hill and Grange City. $5 reward to finder.
Tom Raymond, Hillsboro, Ky.

POTATO SALES.—George Steele brought in a bunch of five seed balls found on a potato plant in his patch. Formerly common, they are so rare now-a-days that hardly any one can name them at sight.

Miss Lucie Quisenberry, having graduated at the Commercial College of Kentucky University, returned to her home near Ewington last Thursday, preparatory to beginning her school at Salt Lick the 27th inst.

CHILD DIED.—Wm. Butcher's 5-year-old daughter Maggie died of membranous croup on White Oak Monday and was buried Tuesday at the Trumbo graveyard. The child took the disease the same night it died. The parents are much sympathized with.

The ladies of the Christian Church have announced an ice-cream supper for Wednesday night of this week, to be given at Bath Seminary.

The old public well by the Seminary fence has been capped with a big sawed freestone slab, will have a pump put in and furnish its quota of water.

The Morehead baseball team Thursday afternoon did the work for the Owingsvilles by 19 to 13, although the latter had a lead of 13 to 3 in the fifth inning.

HAS FAITH AND NERVE.—Tom Shroat has faith in rain coming yet, and proved his faith by working in the garden at Mt. Sterling 100 lbs. of corn 50 bbls. of new corn to be delivered in Owingsville at $2.50.

EARLY MORNING MAIL REGULARLY.—This town is to have an early morning mail regularly, beginning the first of August, the carrier meeting the 6:45 a. m. train at Preston. Postmaster Barnes is successful in improving our mail service and deserves much credit for his hustling qualities.

DAILY MAIL TO BETHEL.—John Manley has the contract for carrying the mail to Bethel, via Reynoldsville, and began Monday. This is a change that will be gratefully appreciated by the people in the section served, and is owed to the efforts of Postmaster James A. Barnes.

SPLINTERPULLERS REDEEMED THEMSELVES.—The Splinterpuller baseball club kept itself busy Friday afternoon by defeating the Wyoming juvenile club by 19 to 18. The "Reds" had a double revenge by defeating the Owingsville "League" team on their defeat by the Moreheads and crowing over their own victory.

MT. STERLING COURT.—There was a big crowd at Mt. Sterling Monday and about 3,000 cattle on the market. Cattle were slow sale and prices low. A few good mules were sold at $5 to $15 off. Several hundred sheep were offered. John L. Vioe sold three mules at $175, $165 and $120 respectively. T. S. Shroat sold a horse for $115.

DIED AT FARMERS.—Mrs. John Warren died at her home in Farmers at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning of consumption. She was Mrs. Warren's second wife, and her maiden name being Annie Kendig. She was from Salt Lick. No further details could be secured at the time of going to press. The bereaved husband has THE OUTLOOK'S sympathy in his hour of trial.

NOTICE.—The Republicans of Bath county are hereby requested to meet in mass convention at Mt. Sterling on Saturday, August 1st, 1903, at 2 o'clock p. m. to select delegates to attend the 35th Senatorial convention at Morehead, Ky., on Tuesday, August 4th, 1903, at 10 o'clock p. m. to nominate a candidate to be voted for at the coming November election, 1903.

J. A. BARNES, Chairman.
REUBEN GUDGELL, Secretary.

OLD PAPERS.—Mrs. W. W. Barnes of Salt Lick, favored us with a copy each of the Owingsville Inquirer of Sept. 22, 1871, the Bath County News of June 5, 1872, ditto of Oct. 15, 1874, and THE OUTLOOK of Dec. 6, 1883. They are all much more interesting than when they were fresh from the press, as they tell of forgotten incidents and people who have passed from the stage of life forever. They suggest the idea that nothing could be more appreciated by the generations to come, than a file of local papers carefully preserved.

LYNCHED TRACKER.—Wednesday morning about 1 o'clock, July 15th, a mob of 25 to 50 persons overpowered Jailer Morris at the Flemingsburg jail, took therefrom Wm. J. Thacker and hanged him to a short tree within the town limits. Thacker yelled and fought and was roughly handled before he was hanged. Young people returning home from dances in town that night were held up by the mob until their lives were in jeopardy. Thacker killed young John Gordon nearly three years ago, raising a row with him without any provocation, so said. Thacker was tried twice, each trial resulting in a life sentence, the case each time being reversed on appeal.

DYNAMITE ACCIDENT.—On Monday last week Leslie Hendrix, Joseph Hendrix and Chas. Hornback were blasting rock in a pool being dug on the former's place, in the northern part of this county. A charge of ten sticks of dynamite was being tamped rather vigorously, with a drill by Hornback (Wm. Hornback, father of the latter, as account of the danger had retired to the hillside some distance away. The blast went off prematurely and sheared the three men dangerously.

When the elder Hornback and others got to them Leslie Hendrix was over the fence at some distance, but he doesn't know whether he was blown there or ran there. The other two were blown only a few feet. Leslie had no wounds, but his eyes were affected and he was sick at the stomach. Joe had a gash in his chin, one in his cheek and one in his temple, and one of his ankles was broken. Hornback had his hands severely torn and one eye affected. All three men were able to walk. Neither will likely lose his eyesight. The blast had torn up the rock without scattering fragments, which was lucky for the men.

TOO FREE WITH WEAPON.—Benjamin Helphenstein attended the Morehead, Owingsville baseball game last Thursday. Going out of town late in the afternoon he met Mrs. Ray Patterson and Mrs. Ford Patterson and fired his pistol a number of times, to their great alarm. Officers went after and arrested him. He was fined $50 for shooting on the public highway and held on a concealed-weapon charge. He has been in jail ever since. He was a soldier in the Philippines and a second lieutenant in Co. C, 2d Kentucky Regiment, during the Spanish war.

AT THE CONVENTION.—R. Gudgell says that he has attended, with but two exceptions, all of the State Republican conventions held during the past thirty-five years, and the one held on the 15th and 16th inst. was decidedly the largest and best representation of the State organization. It was clearly demonstrated that ex-Governor Bradley is the foremost man and the ideal of the party in the State. The Louisville delegation was smothered with Democratic manners of selection, but for which Col. Belknap seemed not to be personally responsible. The ticket was well distributed in the State; the friction engendered will soon pass away, and it is well demonstrated that the ticket will be a strong one. Mr. Gudgell was one of the vice-presidents.

SENT TO ASYLUM.—Liam McCue, of sent to the of Judge J. burg, and as a sold and joined to the the reg conduct battle o. red soon Westcott recent re the figure of his m. at San Francisco. tations he was a m and a wife believe in and a kick a him. She is now on a y. Judge McCue, at Sharpburg.

OF FOR BARON.—Judge J. Clyde Nelson, of Sharpburg, this county, enjoys the distinction of having read every book he could obtain, either by purchase or loan, and he is now doubtless the most extensive reader in this section of the State. His range of reading includes poetry, history, biography, fiction and current literature, and he averages twenty-five books per year, without in the least neglecting his numerous other duties. Since early childhood he has had a particular fondness for reading, and he indulges it insofar as his time and means will permit.

But a peculiarity about Judge Nelson's reading, and one that differentiates him from others who read for pleasure or instruction, is his certainty of detecting any error, typographical or otherwise, that may appear in the book he reads. That he is a connoisseur in correct punctuation, the use of good English, construction of sentences, paragraphing, and other such requisites of modern high-class literature, is attested by the fact that during the past five years he has never failed to find errors in every book perused by him.

Recently Judge Nelson has been writing the publishers of books in which he finds errors, calling their attention to the same, or else he has reconstructed some sentences, or made other changes, with the inevitable result that the publishers have been obliged to acknowledge Judge Nelson's correctness, and have recognized his ability by incorporating in the next edition of the book the correction or alteration suggested by him. He has received from several publishers offers of the position of proof-reader, corrector or reviser of manuscript, or book editor in their establishments, and he is seriously thinking of accepting one of these offers soon.

Besides possessing a liberal education, Judge Nelson is a graduate from the law department of the Northwestern University, Chicago. He served as Police Judge of the town of Sharpburg, and also Town Attorney several terms. Yet he is a young man, being only thirty-eight years old. He is now editor of the World, a local paper, published at Sharpburg, and his editorial duties, embracing the preparation and proofreading of all matter for the paper, together with an labor trait to have everything exactly right, has developed in him the proficiency that may soon make him a valuable man for some large publishing house.
